

GREEN AND SUSTAINABLE CHEMISTRY BOOTCAMP

“Imagine a world where all segments of society demanded environmentally benign products! Imagine if all consumers, all retailers and all manufacturers insisted on buying and selling only non-toxic materials!”

— John C. Warner

We are happy to invite you to the “Green and Sustainable Chemistry Bootcamp”, taking place from 18 - 19 April 2023 at the Hotel Savoyen, in Vienna, Austria.

Cefic and FCIO are honored to welcome John Warner: American chemist, one of the founders of the field of green chemistry and Co-Founder of beyondbenign.

The Green and Sustainable Chemistry Bootcamp is a unique opportunity to learn and discuss about green and sustainable chemistry concepts in a welcoming environment.

Research and development in green chemistry are happening at a rapid pace. Are you unfamiliar with the terminology, or inexperienced in science? No need to worry! The course will improve your organization's commercial competitiveness by showing you how to keep pace with recent developments in the field.

The fields of toxicology and environmental health sciences are constantly evolving, researchers and managers will benefit from keeping current with high level emerging concepts in these fields to best anticipate and navigate public perception and future regulatory actions.

Following this course will help you address public's concerns about chemicals impacting human health and the environment.

PRACTICAL INFORMATION

Intended audience

This bootcamp is designed for all those individuals who make choices on materials to use, or technologies to invent, at the design phase. Participants can both be non-chemists and practicing professional chemists.
